BEYOND SAVING? Three exhausted firemen contemplate charred and gutted buildings at 179 and 183 Nassau Street — mere shells remaining after a fire early Monday morning. Princeton University must now decide whether to raze the buildings or try to salvage them.

Township Approves Refinancing of Griggs Farm Through $21 Million in Self-Liquidating Bonds

On Monday night, Township Committee unanimously approved a bond ordinance authorizing the issuance of $21 million in self-liquidating general obligation bonds or notes to refinance Princeton Community Housing's Griggs Farm construction loan and to finance the remainder of the project.

Committeeman Richard Woodbridge, who had said at the time the ordinance was introduced that he would support it, was not present, and although there was an effort to delay final approval pending dissemination of more information on the issue to the general public, it was felt that a week's delay would also put off the time when PCH could reap the benefits in reduced interest costs.

The purpose of the refinancing is to save PCH some $500,000 in interest charges it is paying to a commercial bank. PCH is currently paying interest at 10½ percent on a loan that currently stands at about $13 million. The Township is the guarantor of this bank loan and is obligated to buy up any units that ultimately don't sell.

Ten million dollars of the bond issue will be in taxable notes, $11 million in tax exempt. As a municipality with a triple-A rating, the Township can expect borrowing rates of 9 percent on the $10 million in taxable notes and 6.5 percent on the $11 million in tax exempt notes. The Township can also invest whatever amount is not being used at around 7.8 percent which will also help offset PCH's interest charges.

The refinancing plan is one of several strategies PCH has devised to meet a gap between the total cost of the Griggs Farm project and projected revenues. According to the Griggs Farm project report filed with the Local Finance Board of the State Department of Community Affairs, which unanimously approved the proposed bond issue on February 21, PCH is estimating $22,645,000 in sales revenues. It is also estimating total project costs — "hard" construction and land costs as well as "soft" costs of architect and engineering fees, marketing, administration and financing, etc. — of $29,747,000.

The gap between the two comes to $7,102,000. This amount is expected to be met by:

- a $2.5 million grant from the New Jersey Housing and Mortgage Finance Agency and the state Department of Community Affairs;

- an additional $2.5 million from syndicated investors who will receive $527,386 in tax credits each year for 10 years as the result of a 1989 tax credit allocation which PCH was granted by the NJHMFA. The money is from a federal program which provides tax credit to investors in low-income rental housing, providing

A day after an early Monday morning fire severely damaged two Princeton University-owned buildings on Nassau Street which housed four businesses and five apartments, investigators were still in the process of trying to determine the cause and a University spokesman said that the structures would probably have to be torn down.

Princeton Fire Chief Eric Karch replied "not at this time," when asked Tuesday morning if the cause of the $1.5 million blaze had been determined. "It's still under investigation.

Tenants in all the second-floor apartments were evacuated safely. Five firemen were treated for minor injuries at Princeton Medical Center: two for smoke inhalation, two for hypothermia and one, Princeton fireman David Bogle, for a broken thumb.

Businesses closed by the fire are the American Diner and Wadsworth's Gourmet Bakery at 179 Nassau and Thomas Sweet Ice Cream and Chocolate and the recently-opened Zorba's Grill located at 183 Nassau.

The University's Director of Communications, Justin Harmon, said Tuesday that he expects that the two buildings, which the University has owned since 1968 and renovated in the 1970s, will have to be razed. The 179 Nassau building, he said, which houses the diner and Wadsworth's, is "clearly a loss. The 183 is less severely damaged but it looks as if it might have to be razed, too."

Mr. Harmon emphasized that no decision has been made. Any decision, he added, would be based on whether, in fact, the second building is a loss, what the replacement costs would be and what the community feels is best for the site. The University, he said, wants public input. The site is zoned residential-commercial.

Tax assessor Carol Caskey reports the lots are assessed at $691,400, which represents a market value of at least $1.5 million. Taxes are $23,300. Ms. Caskey commented that if the costly fire had occurred before January 10, the buildings could have been taken off the tax rolls. Since the fire came after that date, the University will have to pay a full year's tax on the property. The 1990 budget, she said, would not be affected.

The call from Thomas Sweet manager Ellen Abernathy reporting a smoke condition in the building came to police headquarters at 12:46 a.m. Patrolmen Ronald Wohlschlegel, Gary Mitchell

Borough to Reduce Increase in Taxes By 8 Cents per $100

Borough Council has committed itself to reducing the previously announced 1990 municipal tax rate increase of 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to 12 cents. On the basis of a 20-cent increase, the owner of a house assessed at $200,000 would have had to pay $400 in additional municipal taxes. If the tax rate increase is changed to 12 cents, the additional tax would amount to $240.

Five cents will be lopped off the tax rate through a reconsideration of the amount of revenue to be gained through interest on investments.

Borough Administrator Mark Gordon had estimated this interest at $560,000 for 1990. Since the actual interest on investments was close to a million dollars in 1989, Mayor Barbara Sigmund recommended that $781,000, rather than $560,000, be added to the revenue side of the 1990 budget.

To lop off three more cents from the tax rate, the Borough will have to come up with $132,000 in additional revenues. There will be little, if any, reduction in expenditures. Mayor Sigmund said earlier that structural changes, rather than budget-cutting, was the only way to cut the Borough budget.

To raise these monies, Council is looking toward increasing meter fees at Palmer Square and the Dinky, and to raising fees at the Park and Shop lot on Spring Street. Some savings are also expected through the Mercer County rebate of $69 per each ton of recycled materials.

These additional revenues added up to an approximate tax savings of seven cents, and brought the anticipated municipal tax rate to 13 cents. Mayor Sigmund then asked Mr. Gordon to examine the budget further and find another $44,000 in revenue to be applied to the budget—the amount needed to bring the tax rate down to 12 cents.

Areas that may be looked at as sources of additional revenues are other Borough fees, dog licenses, and overnight parking rates.

Council was expected at its Tuesday, February 27, meeting to discuss the extent of meter and parking increases. In a memo to Mr. Gordon, Borough Engineer Carl Peters recommended that Palmer Square meters be changed to a rate of $1 an hour and that other Central Business District meters be increased to 75 cents an hour.

Mr. Peters also suggested that rates in the Park and Shop lot be adjusted to reach parity with on-street parking for short durations. He recommended that the fees for all short durations, except the first 20 minutes, be increased by 50 cents.

Council has given preliminary approval to all departmental expenditure budgets. It will, however, postpone introduction of the budget until after passage of an ordinance to increase parking rates.

County officials estimate that the 1990 Mercer County tax rate for Borough property owners will increase seven cents over last year's $1.07 per $100 of assessed valuation. The school tax is estimated to go up nine

Nominees Are Sought
For Clancy Award

The Princeton Area Council of Community Services seeks nominations for the Robert E. Clancy Award for outstanding service as a volunteer.

The award is for individuals who volunteer their time in one-to-one direct service. It honors the unsung hero or heroine who spends many hours behind the scenes working with individuals and small groups in a volunteer capacity.

In addition to the adult award, a youth award will be given to a young person who has made an outstanding contribution to volunteer work in the greater Princeton area. A five member panel made up of community leaders will judge the nominations according to criteria established by the board of directors of the Council of Community Services.

The deadline for nominations is Tuesday, March 27. Nominations may be made by organizations or individuals. Forms can be obtained by calling 924-5865 or 799-6033. The winner of the Clancy Award will receive a silver sculpture on a marble base which will be presented at a luncheon at the Nassau Club during National Volunteer Week in April.

Correction

An article about the Regional Health Department in the February 21 issue stated that Drew Scalessa filed charges against Patrick Hanson after Mr. Hanson filed charges against him. According to Mr. Scalessa, he filed charges against Mr. Hanson on August 31, 1989, and Mr. Hanson filed countercharges on November 13, 1989.

Church & Dwight Executives Want a Bunn Drive Helipad; Township Is Opposed, Files Letter of Objection with FAA

The Township and one of its major corporate taxpayers, Church & Dwight, are at loggerheads over the company's proposal to install a private helicopter launching pad at the company's headquarters on Bunn Drive.

Church & Dwight has submitted an application to the State Department of Transportation and the Federal Aviation Administration for a helipad license. Notice of the application was published last Friday, giving the public 30 days to comment. Comments or objections are restricted to public health and safety issues and must be in writing.

Upon receipt of written comments or objections, the Office of Aviation can make a determination that the proposed licensing is a "contested" case. If so, a public hearing will be scheduled. Having received many verbal comments from alarmed residents, Township Committee instructed its attorney on Monday night to write a letter of objection as a first step.

Township Attorney Edwin W. Schmierer told Committee that the DOT and the Federal Aviation Agency have jurisdiction in deciding the application, not the municipality, even though a helipad is specifically not permitted under the zoning ordinance. Mr. Schmierer suggested that the Township may want to schedule its own public hearing within the 30 days to reinforce the fact that the application is being contested. Testimony taken down by a paid stenographer would "build the record," he suggested.

Relationship at Stake

"I hope Church & Dwight will reconsider this application," Mayor Kate Litvack said. "It will be costly to the town and to the company. They are good corporate citizens, and it will be costly in terms of that relationship, let alone the cost to the township of pursuing our objection."

"They could use Princeton Airport and make their neighbors happy," Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand remarked.

In a prepared background summary regarding the application, Church & Dwight maintains that the proposed helipad will not be detrimental to the neighborhood. The helipad will consist of a paved area, 40 feet in diameter, located behind the main building near existing parking lots. The site is more than 700 feet from the nearest residentially zoned property.

The proposed helipad will only be used by individuals associated with Church & Dwight, Princeton Medical Center, or in an emergency, by police and fire departments and the rescue squad. Eight small perimeter lights using 40-watt bulbs, one flood light and a lighted wind cone will be the only additional items installed at the helipad and won't be visible because the facility is behind the buildings. The helipad will be lit only when a helicopter is actually using the facility, and there will be no maintenance facilities, fuel or other such items located there.

Flights Over O-R Zones

According to the background summary, helicopters flying to the proposed helipad will use an approach and departure path that has already received conceptual approval from the DOT's Division of Aviation. The path has been designed so that an aircraft using the helipad will always be over property located in the office-research zone. The nearest residentially zoned property is said to be in excess of 500 feet from the proposed approach/departure path.

According to Church & Dwight president and chief executive officer Dwight Minton, the company will be using small, modern helicopters with narrow blades that will generate no more noise than is generated by trucks on Bunn Drive. The helipad will "generally" be used on weekdays between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., and it is anticipated that there will be an average of two or three landings per day.

"Church & Dwight does not intend to schedule regular flights to local airports or other locations," the background statement notes. "To the contrary, the proposed helipad will only be utilized by senior corporate executives whose status in the corporation demands that they have access to secure, safe and rapid transportation."

Loaded Revolver Stolen From Lytle Street Apt.

A loaded .38 Smith & Wesson revolver was stolen overnight this week from a bedroom in an apartment on Lytle Street. Entry was gained by breaking a window in a front door.

The 50-year-old owner told police that no one ever knew he owned a gun. Capt. Thomas Michaud said that the weapon, valued at $300, was not registered but did not have to be. "It is legal," he said, "to keep a gun in your own place." Nothing else was taken in the theft, which took place between 7:30 Monday night and 1:30 Tuesday morning.

Interior Workplaces, an office furniture and supply firm at 350 Alexander Street, was broken into this month, Township police report, but nothing was taken.

Cabinets where money and records were kept were rifled as well as desk drawers but nothing was found to be missing. There was no forced entry into the building. The office had nine-foot walls, police said, but there was a three-foot gap be-

Mr. Minton says he was away a total of 100 nights in the past year, and that other executives travel even more than he does. He says there is "no assurance" that Princeton Airport will continue to be available to the Church & Dwight helicopter. "There is vocal and continued opposition to the airport," he notes.

"Moreover, the airport is not on our premises. It takes time to get there." He estimated getting in and out of a car and driving to and from the airport adds 10 to 15 minutes each way to the travel time of an executive. "It clearly would be much more convenient to operate from our own premises," Mr. Minton says.

Asked if Church & Dwight would reconsider the application in the light of Mayor Litvack's strongly worded request, he responds: "We carefully considered the matter before filing, and it was concluded that we should apply. We intend to pursue the application, and to follow the law by dealing with the State and the Federal Aviation Administration."

"A key factor for me," Mr. Minton continues, "is that given the flight path we would be following, and the enormous difference between the smaller narrow-bladed helicopter — it is much quieter than the wide-bladed military 'copters people see going by — there would be minimal disturbance to the residence."

"I don't think this would be the damaging event to the Township that people perceive."

The application is on file at the Office of Aviation in the Ronson Building at Mercer County Airport. Written comments may be addressed to the Office of Community Involvement, New Jersey Department of Transportation, 1035 Parkway Avenue, CN600, Trenton, N.J. 08625.

Township Committee will hold a public hearing on the issue at its next meeting on Monday, March 5.

Assault Charge Lodged Against a Taxi Driver

Princeton taxi driver Jacinto F. Barriero, 59, of Cherry Valley Road, has been charged with simple assault following an incident Friday in front of the taxi stand on Nassau Street across from Palmer Square.

The victim, an 18-year-old Millstone Township resident, came to police headquarters and gave police the following account. He had taken the London Taxi, which Mr. Barriero owns and operates, on a previous occasion and did not want to take his cab again — although it was first in line. The two got into an argument.

Mr. Barriero took an object from his pocket and lunged at the victim, who jumped safely to the side.

Capt. Thomas Miehau said it is believed that the object was a knife. Mr. Barriero was issued a summons calling for his appearance March 12 in Borough Court.

Driver Is Charged

A Kendall park resident, John N. Marotta, 21, has been charged by Borough police with possession of less than 50 grams of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Marotta was stopped by police at 2 Friday morning for speeding on Nassau Street. He was later arrested and charged with the two offenses after the officer found a blue and black smoking pipe in his possession. Marotta was later released after being issued a complaint summons.

A DWI Charge Follows An Improper Lane Turn

Failure to make a proper lane turn on Valley Road last week near the Township garage resulted in the driver being subsequently charged with drunken driving.

The driver, Frances W. Norwood, 38, of North Brunswick, was stopped on Route 206 at Jefferson Road by Ptl. Mark Emmons. After the officer detected an odor of alcohol and slurred speech by the driver, he administered balance and coordination tests at the scene.

Ms. Norwood was arrested and taken to headquarters where she was given two Breathalyzer tests. She was charged with drunken driving, improper turn and failure to obtain a New Jersey driver's license. Lodged overnight in the Borough jail, Ms. Norwood was released the next day in the custody of a lawyer.

Protestors & Counterprotestors Greet Quayle

Three Princeton University students were arrested last Thursday night during Vice President Dan Quayle's address to Congressional Republicans in Richardson Hall.

The Vice President's speech was interrupted by angry students protesting policies of the Bush administration. The speech, which began a three-day retreat for Republican members of Congress, focused on how changes in Europe pose new challenges to American foreign policy.

Protesters shouted "Stop the killing" and "There's women's blood on your hands, Dan." They were taken out of the hall by Secret Service agents as they continued their heckling.

Borough Police arrested Christopher Meade, 21, and Hilary Abell, 21, inside Richardson and charged them with disorderly conduct and disrupting a lawful meeting. Arrested outside the hall was Christopher Paciorek, 18. He was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

The three students are scheduled to appear in Borough Municipal Court on March 5.

The shouting began during the Vice President's discussion of the fall of communism in Eastern Europe. Mr. Quayle, to applause from the 600-member audience, jokingly called the protesters "the undecided."

During the speech, some 140 students — calling themselves the February 22 Emergency Response Coalition — demonstrated against several Administration policies, including those on abortion, AIDS, the environment, and United States policy in Central America.

At the same time, about 40 counter-protesters showed up to support the Vice President. They chanted slogans such as "lifers suck."

was not taken. Time of theft: 12:30 to 4:30 last Wednesday morning.

A wallet was stolen last week from a purse which had been left unattended on a table in an office in the University-owned building at 185 Nassau Street. It was later found, minus the $125 it had contained, in a women's rest room in the same building. Police report the victim is an employee of the University and a resident of Jersey City.

$24 were shoplifted Saturday from a rack at the Princeton Record Exchange on Tulane Street. Capt. Thomas Michaud reports that police have a suspect who was seen in the area of the rack.

Six Bikes Stolen

Six bicycles worth a combined $3,260 were stolen last week in the borough. All but two were mountain bikes and all the victims are University students. With the exception of one, each stolen bike had been locked to itself — wheel to frame.

A red, white and blue Flasher who has allegedly exposed himself to eight victims racing and valued at $1,200, was taken from McCosh Hall; an 18-speed model worth $530 was taken from the 16th entry of Little Hall; a $500 men's gray bike from Dodge-Osborne Hall; and a yellow bike valued at $430 from the archway of Holder Hall.

A student's Myata Sport 10-speed, valued at $500, was taken Sunday afternoon from the Dinky Station on University Place and an unlocked blue bicycle was stolen from Blair Arch. It is valued at $100.

Township police list the theft of a $300, 18-speed, locked mountain bike from the lobby of Jadwin Hall on campus.

TSC Teacher Is Charged As 'Princeton Flasher'

A 36-year-old assistant professor of electrical engineering technology at Trenton State College was arrested on campus last week and charged with lewdness.

Borough police say that Timothy B. Hanson of Morrisville, Pa. is the Princeton

Flasher who has allegedly exposed himself to eight victims racing and valued at $1,200, was taken from McCosh Hall; an 18-speed model worth $530 was taken from the 16th entry of Little Hall; a $500 men's gray bike from Dodge-Osborne Hall; and a yellow bike valued at $430 from the archway of Holder Hall.

A spokesman for Trenton State College said that Mr. Hanson is held in high regard by his department members and his arrest has caught the school by surprise. Mr. Hanson taught at Ohio University before coming to TSC last fall, where he is teaching two classes this semester.

The spokesman added that school officials intend to monitor the situation before taking any action.

Borough police have charged Mr. Hanson with flashing five women, the first instance occurring last October 17. If convicted, he faces up to a $1,000 fine and six months in jail on each charge.

He is alleged to have exposed himself to at least eight victims, mostly on streets not far from Princeton High School or on the grounds of Princeton Seminary. The latest incident, however, involved a 33-year-old Borough resident on February 9 at the intersection of Hodge Road and Library Place.

All the victims described the flasher as in his mid-30s with curly blond hair. Police released a composite picture of the suspect to area newspapers and that composite led to the arrest of Mr. Hanson, Capt. Thomas Michaud reported.

According to Capt. Michaud, Borough police received information from a resident who reported seeing a suspicious-looking man in Princeton who resembled the composite sketch. She took down his license plate number and gave it to police, after following him to his car.

Police placed the suspect under surveillance. At times, Capt. Michaud reported, he engaged in what he termed suspicious behavior. He declined, however, to give any of the details that led to Detectives Gerald Patterson and Dennis McManimon going to the TSC campus and serving Mr. Hanson with a warrant for his arrest.

Capt. Michaud, who had predicted from the beginning that the flasher would be apprehended, said that he is confident Mr. Hanson is the one in the police composite. "We wouldn't have charged him unless we were sure," he said.

Two Borough Burglaries; Two Young Men Charged

Two related burglaries on Witherspoon Street early Saturday morning has resulted in two young men being charged by police for the crimes.

Roicee Thomas, 22, Albemarle Road, Lawrenceville, has been charged with burglary and theft at the Pizza Escort, 146 Witherspoon and with the same offense at Hunan, 157 Witherspoon. Shawn Hyter, 21, of Quarry Street, has been charged with burglary and theft at Hunan and with complicity in the Pizza entry.

All charges against Thomas and Hyter will be forwarded to a Mercer County Grand Jury for further action.

Cash and food items worth $690 were taken from Hunan of which police have recovered $677. Coins amounting to $173 were taken from a cash register at Pizza Escort. None of the latter amount has been recovered.

Capt. Thomas Michaud gave this account of the burglaries. Borough police received an anonymous call at 3:45 in the morning, reporting a burglary in progress at Pizza Escort. Borough and Township patrolmen responded. Ptl. Arthur Villaruz of the Township, the first to arrive, saw two fleeing suspects and gave chase. They split up. He pursued one but the suspect disappeared behind a house on Quarry Street.

Police meanwhile discovered the front door window at the Pizza firm had been smashed. Lying on the sidewalk in front of the store was a cash register drawer. An amount of coins lay scattered about.

A K-9 dog from the Montgomery Township police department led police to a home on Quarry Street. Police knocked on the door and were admitted by an elderly occupant. Once inside, they found Hyter hiding under some covers in a bedroom. Capt. Michaud said that Hyter lived at the address. Hyter was identified by Ptl. Villaruz as the suspect he had chased.

Fall Victim Dies

The 35-year-old Trenton resident who fell five stories down a staircase in Fine Hall tower on the Princeton University campus February 19 has died from her injuries.

Township Lt. Anthony Gaylord said that police were informed that the victim, Paula Bernocchi, died at 1:56 Monday morning at University Hospital in Newark. "At this time, we are classifying it as a suicide," said Lt. Gaylord. However, the case is still considered open by the police, he added, until an autopsy is performed by a medical examiner.

While police were questioning Hyter and searching the area for clues, they came upon an open garage on the same Quarry Street property. Inside they found foodstuffs, including frozen shrimp, chicken, flank steak and pork. Initially, police believed, the items had been stolen from Pizza Escort.

Concurrently, other officers during the investigation, Capt. Michaud continued, had discovered an entry into Hunan. Police were able to ascertain that the foodstuffs had been stolen from there and Thomas was arrested a few hours later on Witherspoon Street.

Shoveling Sidewalk Law Reinstated in Township

Over the objections of two residents who claimed the measure was "unfair," Township Committee unanimously adopted an ordinance requiring Township residents to shovel the snow off their sidewalks within 48 hours after a snowfall.

Henry J. Frank of Valley Road, former chairman of the Traffic Safety Committee, and former Township Committee man William Cherry each objected to the ordinance in public hearing, saying it posed an unfair hardship on the few Township residents whose homes happened to have sidewalks. Mr. Frank spoke at length about the history of sidewalks and bikeways in the Township and the history of an earlier sidewalk shoveling law that was repealed when the Township purchased a snow clearing machine.

Multi-Family Recycling Will Begin This Spring

Sidewalks were installed initially to provide safe access to schools, he said. All residents pay the school tax, he continued, but an ordinance which only affects a few is unfair —

The Mercer County Improvement Authority (MCIA) has announced that recycling collections will begin April 30 for multi-family dwelling units participating in the County-wide recycling program. The MCIA plans to advertise bids for multi-family collection this week.

The MCIA's timetable calls for a contract to be awarded March 28. The hauler contract will enable the Authority to continue to add more multi-family units as they decide to enter the program.

Since all complexes are mandated by State law to recycle, those that do not participate in the County program must contract with a private hauler for recycling collection.

When all multi-family developments are on line for recycling collections, the last phase of the County's residential recycling program will be in place. Commercial establishments must submit recycling plans to the MCIA by March 15 and be prepared to implement those plans on their own within 60 days after receiving approval.

Status of Working Women Is Subject of Discussion

Five women from various countries will discuss "The Status of Working Women in Five Countries" at a celebration of International Women's Day on Thursday, March 8.

The discussion will take place in Bowl 2 of the Woodrow Wilson School at 12:15. Elisabeth Gerle, a concert singer and an ordained minister from Sweden, will perform and moderate the proceedings, which are sponsored by the Princeton University Women's

STATUS OF WOMEN THEIR FOCUS: Paula Chow, seated right front, director of the International Center at Princeton University meets with four of the women who will take part in a discussion on the status of working women in their respective countries. From left, they are Afaf Rehiman of Sudan, Grazyna Domanska of Poland, Dehera Bruce of Peru and Elizabeth Gerle of Sweden. The discussion will be held Thursday, March 8, at 12:15 in Woodrow Wilson School Bowl 2 as part of an International Women's Day celebration.

Organization and the International Center of Princeton University.

Ms. Gerle is a visiting scholar at Princeton Theological Seminary doing research on "global ethos." She has worked for Swedish national radio and TV and has been active in women's and peace issues for many years. Three Parvin Fellows and a teacher from Poland will also participate.

They are Dehera Bruce of Peru, an economist, who is chief of the Department of Social Studies of the Economic Research Office at the Central Reserve Bank of Peru; Afaf Rehiman, of Sudan, head of the training section at the Agricultural Bank of Sudan and an expert on women's activities in her country; Mariko Saeki, a program director at the Japan Broadcasting Corporation in Osaka; and Grazyna Domanska, a teacher of English at Warsaw University's Law School.

International Women's Day was first celebrated in 1911 on the anniversary of a demonstration held in 1857 by women garment workers in New York City protesting working conditions. More than a million women participated in the first Day and their fight for equal rights was linked with the fight for international peace.

stream corridor preservation regulation will affect 18 streams in the region. Among them are Beden's Brook, Heathcote Brook, the Millstone River, Shipetaukin Creek, Six Mile Run, and Stony Brook.

A stream corridor is defined as the land along a stream that is within the 100-year flood line, plus a 100-foot buffer. Any residential or non-residential project which has an acre or more of impervious surface (10,000 square feet if it is within 1,000 feet of the canal) will be required to set aside that portion of the property that is within a stream corridor and concentrate the building on the less environmentally sensitive portion of the lot.

Buildings, driveways, parking lots and septic lots will be prohibited in the corridors. The regulations will not apply to the person who is building a house on a lot alongside a stream and may not have use of his property if he cannot build in the corridor.

In January 1989, new, more stringent visual and ecological impact regulations were adopted for the review of projects that are within 1,000 feet of the canal. These regulations establish standards for how near the canal a structure can be built, for landscaping to buffer new projects and other visual impact issues.

In addition to the new stream corridor preservation regulation, the Commission will also have a new regulation dealing with impact on the Canal Park from proposals for new or widened roads that would either cross or run alongside the park.

Public Reading Planned By Author Doris Lessing

Doris Lessing, author of more than 30 volumes of stories, essays, poems and novels, will be the Belknap Visitor in the Humanities at Princeton University on Thursday and Friday, March 15 and 16. She will present a public reading from her work on Thursday, March 15, at 8 p.m. in the film theater at 185 Nassau Street.

Born in Persia and raised in Rhodesia, Ms. Lessing has lived in London since 1949. Her first novel, The Grass Is Singing (1950), portrayed the life of white settlers in Rhodesia. It was for English and American readers one of the first dramatic presentations of apartheid. Ms. Lessing went on to write an ambitious five-volume series of novels about Martha Quest, a Rhodesian-born settler in Britain who is in many ways a kindred spirit of the author herself.

In 1962 she published The Golden Notebook, which many critics consider her masterpiece. The work has been described as "a complex maze of differing perspectives on the same woman's life and circumstances." It is organized as a series of overlapping "notebooks." Her more recent novels enter the realm of science fiction as they explore cosmic questions and other civilizations.

Nominees Are Sought For YWCA TWIN Award

The YWCA's Tribute to Women and Industry (TWIN) program is receiving nominations for the 1990 TWIN Achievement Awards. TWIN has mailed 300 nomination forms to area businesses and organizations, seeking as nominees women who have made outstanding contributions to their employer and field of business.

School Board Election

Thursday at 4 p.m. is the deadline for School Board candidates to file for the annual School Board election, scheduled for April 24.

In addition to the two three-year terms previously announced in the Township, there is now an additional opening for an unexpired two-year term. This is the seat to which Eva Collins was elected in April, 1989. Mrs. Collins died last week.

There is one three-year term open in the Borough.

Nominating petitions may be obtained in the Board Secretary's office, Valley Road building, from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A board member must be a citizen, a registered voter in the District, and a resident of the District for at least one year.

Traditionally, TWIN has sought high-level executive women from the corporate sector. In its seven-year local history, however, TWIN has witnessed many changes in the nature of working women's opportunities and achievements.

To recognize the diversity of careers represented by women, TWIN's search for nominees this year has been extended to women serving in professional and entrepreneurial roles.

Any outstanding woman who has achieved the rank of vice-president or equivalent in a corporate setting, who is a professional making a significant contribution to the furtherance of her field, or who is owner/partner of her own business may be considered for the award. Women may be self-nominated or have someone else nominate them.

The 1990 TWIN honorees will be publicly recognized at a banquet on May 23 at the Princeton Forrestal Village Marriott.

For further information, or to receive a nomination form, call TWIN Coordinator Adele Fuller at 497-2127. Nominations must be returned to the YWCA by March 16.

Literary Critic, Author Here for Two Lectures

Irving Howe, distinguished writer, literary critic and MacArthur Fellow, will deliver the first Tanner Lectures on Human Values at Princeton University on Thursday and Friday, March 8 and 9.

His visit will include two lectures. The first, on Thursday evening at 8, is entitled "The Idea of the Self in Modern Literature." Following the lecture, Joyce Carol Oates, Princeton's Roger S. Berlind '52 Professor in the Humanities, will moderate a panel discussion including George Levine of Rutgers and Alexander Nehamas, the Visiting Carpenter Professor at Princeton.

Mr. Howe's second lecture, on Friday afternoon at 3, will be devoted to "The Concept of Totalitarianism." Respondents will be George Kateb of Princeton and Michael Walzer from the Institute for Advanced Study, with Harvey Teres of Princeton as moderator.

Both lectures will take place in McCormick 101, and the public is invited to attend and to participate.

Mr. Howe belongs to the generation of writers and critics who are described by the term he himself used in a celebrated essay on "The New York Intellectuals." This group, which came to prominence in the 1940s, included Lionel Trilling, Philip Rahv and Alfred Kazin.

One item to be offered during the live auction is an original charcoal portrait of Dr. Albert Einstein by Princeton artist, Carola Spaeth Hauschka. The portrait, dated 12-12-39, bears the signatures of both the artist and the subject "A. Einstein".

Tickets for the event are the same as last year, $75 per person with patrons paying $100 and benefactors $150 each. For reservations and more information, call Susan Breen at 921-0499.

This major YWCA fundraiser will benefit 25 community-service programs including Alliance for the Disabled, English as a Second Language, Interim Homes, summer camps, after-school programs, women's crises support groups and VIM, a seniors' exercise program.

Some 29 area women have worked on this event which last year netted more than $46,000 for the YWCA. On the committee are Cynthia Abrams, Peggy Anderson, Vikki Barazani, Marge Barclay, Kathy Beach, Lucy Belding, Mim Bourke, Linda Buccellato, Barbara Butler, Ann Craig, Margaret Cruikshank, Julie Gonzalez-Lavin, Mary Jo Lorimer, Kathy Ludlum, Harriette McLoughlin, Nancy Myers, Donna Neas, Gay Ramierz, Carrie Schmierer, Laura Snook, Mayeve Tate, and Penny Thomas.

Construction Vehicles Hit
$4000 Estimated Damage

During the weekend, vandals visited construction vehicles at the road repair site on Cherry Hill Road.

Township police report that the vandals poured black asphalt tar over graders and loaders, cut engine wires, broke windshield wipers and removed fire extinguishers, causing an estimated $4,000 in damage. The vehicles are owned by the Aponte Construction Co. in Flemington.

Last week, while a Ewing Township school bus was traveling on Faculty Road, the driver heard a noise at the rear of the bus. Police report that a three-foot rear window in an emergency rear door was broken after it was apparently struck by an air rifle pellet.

None of the students on board were injured although glass fragments were hurled as far as seven feet into the interior of the bus. Replacement cost was estimated at $100.

While a 1979 Mazda was parked in front of its owners' house on Clay Street last week, someone police said, threw bricks and a large rock through the car's windshield, rear window and front passenger side window.

State Plans Burning

The State is planning to do burning on the property behind the Thomas Clarke house, off Mercer Street, some time during the first week of March. The actual time will be determined by the weather.

"There may be flames, depending on how much dead stuff there is," said Princeton Fire Chief Eric Karch. "There certainly will be smoke."

The burning will be done under a controlled situation by the State Department of Parks and Forestry, said Mr. Karch, and will last for about an hour and a half.

IT'S NEW To Us

Full Range of Antiques
At Miller-Topia Designers

"We had been wanting to come to Princeton for some time," explains Arnie Miller, owner of Miller-Topia Designers. Antique Importers at 170 Nassau Street. "We've been dealing with people from Princeton who often come to our Yardley store, and many of our customers were waiting for us to open here. But we had to find the right spot. We wanted to be on Nassau Street, and we needed enough space. This location has worked out fine."

Mr. Miller reports that the response to the new antiques store has been outstanding. "We're 100 percent pleased and encouraged. There's really been an excellent response, both from our old customers and new ones. Everyone has been very nice, including the other merchants."

"Sales have really been excellent since we opened," he adds. "The Princeton area is a good place for antiques. People come from all around — Lawrenceville, Pennington and Skillman — and there is an interest in and appreciation of antiques here."

A native of Pennsylvania, Mr. Miller has been in the antiques business since 1968, when he opened his first antiques shop, Miller-Topia Designers, in Yardley, Pa. Before that, he was in the design business. "I used to do window designs for different companies," he recalls, "and we still design lamps and lampshades. We also help everyone with decorating, including the decorators! We often advise customers on how a piece can fit into their decor."

He adds that this can be an extra source of satisfaction. "One customer just called about a piece of furniture and said she never dreamed it would look as great in the house as it does. I get real pleasure when people are happy with a purchase. It is very satisfying."

5,000 Items

Miller-Topia is known for its enormous selection of merchandise (more than 5,000 items). It specializes in English, French, American and Oriental pieces, dating from 1650 to 1920. "We're set apart by the vastness of our inventory, the quality and the uniqueness of our pieces. No one has our inventory," says Mr. Miller. "You can furnish your house here. We have it all, and what's not here, we can get in our other shop or in the warehouse in Hulmeville, Pa."

"We buy whole estates," he continues. "People know we are capable of handling large amounts. We're also direct importers. There are no middle people, and this can keep prices down. We have everything from the 17th century up to the Deco of the 1920s, and we have a full range of categories, with special emphasis on furniture, lamps and lighting fixtures, clocks, fireplace equipment and scientific instruments. Formal English furniture and Welsh country furniture and the scientific instruments seem to be especially popular here."

ARRAY OF ANTIQUES: "Quality, investment value and prestige are the reasons why people like antiques. They are better made than most furniture today. They have stood the test of time," explain John Larkin (left), Arnie Miller and Nancy Maguran of Miller-Topia Designers, Antique Importers on Nassau Street. The new shop offers a comprehensive line of antiques, as well as a restoration and repair service.

Mr. Miller notes that antiques are more popular now than ever, and all ages are buying them. "More people realize they are a great investment," he explains, "as well as an individual type of decorating. People can pick out the pieces they like and incorporate them into their own rooms and offices. Antiques in offices are becoming increasingly popular, too. They offer better investments. They will appreciate."

There are young collectors, too, he adds. "We get students from Westminster Choir College and Princeton University. One from Westminster recently bought an antique musical instrument. He was starting a collection."

Browsing Invited

To the uninitiated, the number of choices at Miller-Topia can be overwhelming. Browsing is advised and encouraged, says Mr. Miller. Customers will find a huge array of items — everything from telescopes and ship's course correctors to cut glass and corner cabinets, desks and drop-leaf tables to bronzes and brass parrot eages.

"An English water clock dating to 1661 is a very unusual and rare piece," notes Mr. Miller. "It's a 24-hour clock of brass and wood. An 1870 English sterling silver pocket watch is a complicated piece with separate dials for the day and month, including a moon face."

"Another rare item is an English stage coach blunderbuss, circa 1700, and we also have an English studio camera

It's New to Us

from 1880 and a Swiss music box with lyre handles, also from 1880."

Other items of interest include a series of bronzes (several of animals), an Austrian phonograph with large brass horn, dating to 1912, a small German globe from the 1920s, a handsome Louis XV cylinder desk with built-in clock, a number of oil paintings, mirrors of all shapes, sizes and styles, and an intricate English "Bracket repeater clock" from 1850.

And there is so much more! One would need several visits to do justice to the amazing variety of items. And, as Mr. Miller points out, the selection is always changing. "We have 2,000 new pieces coming in. We change items every day of the week. There are always new things coming in, and they are all cleaned and ready to go."

Prices range from $25 for a silver baby rattle up to $15,000 for the cylinder desk, with every price in between.

Repair and Restoration

In addition to the antiques, Miller-Topia offers a restoration and repair service. Restoration of fine antiques is available, as well as clock and lamp repairs, and metal refinishing.

Mr. Miller, who is frequently in transit between Princeton, Yardley and London, is so encouraged by his stores' success that he hopes to expand the operation, adding branches in Atlanta and London. "We have a new general manager, Neville Summercorn, coming from London this week," he notes, "and we are very enthusiastic about his arrival.

"I think the most interesting thing about this business is that it is always different," he adds. "There are always new things coming in. It's always nice to be around things of quality. And I have to say, we have grown up, and many of the customers have become our friends. People will come in and say 'I remember your grandfather and the soda fountain. I know your father.' It's a special relationship, and you don't want to let people down."

The store's long history can provide opportunity for reminiscing and a glimpse back into how things once were. Ledgers from the store's early days reveal formulas for such items as freckle lotion, hair restorative, corn cure, cold cream, theatre spray, hoof ointment, horse linament, bed bug mixture and Taylor's own sarsparilla. Old menus list ice cream sodas for 15 cents, sundaes for 20 cents and a ham sandwich and cup of coffee 10 cents each. A quart of ice cream was 50 cents.

Pharmacy and Supplies At Taylor Surgical

"We're a unique surgical supply business specializing in the unusual and difficult to find," explains Louise Taylor, co-owner of W. Scott Taylor Surgical Pharmacy at 940 Brunswick Avenue in Trenton.

"My brother W. Scott Taylor IV and I are the fourth generation to run the business," she continues. "My great great grandfather, W. Scott Taylor was a pharmacist and established it in 1875. It was originally a pharmacy and also

THE TEST OF TIME: "Quality, integrity and pride still hold true at W. Scott Taylor Surgical Pharmacy," notes co-owner Louise Taylor. The Trenton pharmacy, which specializes in such items as wheelchairs, walkers, canes, commodes, mastectomy and ostomy supplies, as well as an extensive selection of products for the disabled and a full service pharmacy, is "the oldest family-owned pharmacy in New Jersey," says Miss Taylor.

Taylor's has been serving its customers' needs for generations. As Miss Taylor says, "We have many customers of long standing from all over the area, including Princeton and Bucks County. We have really seen be around things of quality. And I have to say, we have grown up, and many of the customers have become our friends. People will come in and say 'I remember your grandfather and the soda fountain. I know your father.' It's a special relationship, and you don't want to let people down."

Repairs Done

"We also have a repair business," she adds. "We can fix stair glides, hospital beds, wheelchairs and other items."

Taylor's also carries a full range of health, dental, hair and skin care products, as well as greeting cards and gift selections of items for special needs. "We offer wheelchairs, commodes, walkers, canes, mastectomy, ostomy and incontinent products and trusses," says Miss Taylor. "We also do a large rental business, including wheelchairs, stair glide elevators and lift chairs. We do an especially large business with lift chairs."

Stair glides, which are helpful for people who have difficulty climbing stairs, are available to buy or rent, she adds. Other items include such devices as tub grab bars (handles that fit onto most bathtubs), bed wedges for those needing to be elevated in bed, special cushions, doctor's scales, massaging foot baths and orthopedic back supports that fit onto chairs or in the car, as well as massage chairs, offering a complete body massage, exercise bikes, and a special three-wheeled battery operated wheel chair. "This is

Service is what counts most at Taylor's, believes Miss Taylor, and it has helped to establish a reputation that has lasted more than 100 years. "We think the service is special here," she says. "There is a lot of pride involved in this business. I really enjoy my customers. I like to spend time with them and help with their problems. People know they can count on us."

Taylor's offers delivery service (including to Princeton) and is open Monday through Friday 9 to 5:30 and Saturday 9 to 2:30.

Problem of Low Turnout Needs to Be Addressed

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now that the votes have been counted (all 888 valid ballots) in the Princeton Regional school bond election, 6.86% of the registered voters of the combined Borough and Township populations have decided the outcome.

For an issue so crucial that Robert C. Rader, the school board secretary, "was sweating for a little while because the 'no' votes came in first," it was indeed "a low voter turnout." However, before passing judgment on the Princeton voters for their lack of enthusiasm — after all, only $8.45 million was at stake — one may question whether or not this election was sufficiently advertised.

This having been said, one wonders if it could have been feasible to place the issue on last November's ballot, thus ensuring a greater participation. Low voter turnouts make a mockery of democracy and attempts should be made to encourage and facilitate the going to the polls.

Work of James McCord Is Evident Everywhere

To the Editor of Town Topics:

When the great architect Sir Christopher Wren died, he was buried in the crypt of the cathedral (St. Paul's) he had created, and on his monument were carved the well-known words: Si monumentum requiris, circumsperce — "If you seek his monument, look around."

The Rev. Dr. James Iley McCord, late president of Princeton Theological Seminary, and late chancellor of the Center for Theological Inquiry, has gone to his reward. If you seek his monument, look around: at the increased theological sharpness of ministers, Presbyterians and others; at the greater closeness of the churches in the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; at the flights into deep thought which are taking place at the Center for Theological Inquiry; and at the increase in the collection of books and documents at Speer Library.

Even those of us who knew him slightly will not forget him. (Rev.) ROBERT S. BEAMAN Westerlea Arms, Building 9, Apartment 2, Hightstown

Contributors Are Thanked By United Way Chairman

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As the 1989/90 Campaign Chairman of the United Way, Princeton Area Communities, I would like to publicly thank all those who so generously donated to this year's campaign. Our aggressive goal of $2,776,000 was met and, thanks to you, the 31 agencies funded by the United Way will be able to continue to provide care, service and support to those in need.

Our success was truly a team effort and my association with such a dedicated group of volunteers will long be remembered.

Student Asks Readers Why Our Area Is Best

To the Editor of Town Topics:

My name is Adell Bellows. I am 11 years old and am a fifth grade student at Canton Area Elementary School in Canton, Pa.

This year in Social Studies class we are studying about the United States. We are about to begin studying about the different regions of the U.S. We are doing a project to find out more about the different regions, and what people like about them.

The region which I chose to study is the North East which your town and state are a part of. I would like to know why you think that your area of the United States is the best area of all to live in.

I would appreciate it if you could write letters, or send post cards, or brochures, telling or showing why you are proud of your area.

At the end of our project, I promise to write back to this newspaper, telling you the results of our project. Thank you for your help.

"Celebration of a Radiant Life"

More than a thousand mourners at the Princeton University Chapel on Sunday heard Marge Smith call her eulogy for Eva Collins "a celebration of a radiant life."

Mrs. Smith served with Mrs. Collins on the Regional School Board and, 12 years ago, worked with her on the Johnson Park School PTO. "We go back a long time working together," said Mrs. Smith. "She was a radiant person and illuminated all groups she was involved with. She was an incredibly giving human being. This is a great loss to friends, family, and community."

Mimi Ballard worked with Eva Collins on the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation, which Mrs. Collins headed for two years. "She was such a vibrant person, the type of person nobody could say 'no' to," said Mrs. Ballard.

"She was in charge of fund raising, including the golf tournament. When she would call and ask whether you'd like to play golf or make a contribution, you'd have to think twice — whether to make a fool of yourself in public or write a check. A lot of people did both. She was irresistible."

The first John Witherspoon Middle School trip to Washington, D.C., six years ago, owed its success to Mrs. Collins. She worked tirelessly and imaginatively to raise the many thousands of dollars needed, and her enthusiasm affected everyone around her. "She was the driving force. It was a mammoth task," said Principal William Johnson.

"Every Board member feels this as a personal loss," said School Board President Corinne Kyle. "Eva was a strong and compassionate person and a good friend. It is unbelievable to all of us that she is gone."

She was a member of the Intergovernmental Coordinating Committee for Drug Abuse Prevention and was instrumental in organizing the appearance here of Dave Tomo as well as the Dr. Robert DuPont project in the fight against drug use and abuse.

Mrs. Collins was also active in raising funds for the YWCA Bramwell House and the Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation.

Surviving are her husband, Morton Collins; two daughters, Kristy E. and Melissa A., both at home; her mother, Eva Karacsony of Princeton; and two brothers, Nicholas Karacsony of Germantown, Md., and Atilla Karacsony of Princeton.

Princeton University Library until her retirement in 1961.

Raffle Is Planned By Area Red Cross

In March, Red Cross Month, the American Red Cross, Princeton Area Chapter will celebrate its diamond anniversary. For 75 years, the chapter has provided the greater Princeton area with a safe and adequate blood supply, home-delivered meal program, health and safety education, disaster assistance, aid to members of the military and their families, and youth programs.

To tie in with its diamond anniversary, the chapter is holding a Diamond Jubilee raffle. Each of the five prizes — donated by LaVake, Vecere, Phil Pratico Jr., Terry Pratico, and Forest Jewelers — features a diamond. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased before March 16 at the chapter, 182 North Harrison Street.

The raffle and other chapter fund raisers, such as the March membership campaign, support the various services available to individuals in the greater Princeton area. The services of the Princeton Area chapter are also dependent on many volunteers. For more information on Red Cross programs or volunteer opportunities, call 924-2404.

Rescheduled Lecture On Human Mate Choices

David Buss will present the second Vanuxem Lecture of Princeton University's Public Lecture Series on Wednesday, March 7, at 8 in Dodd's Auditorium. The talk has been rescheduled from October, when Dr. Buss was a Fellow at Stanford's Center for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences and was unavoidably detained by the earthquake.

A well-known researcher into the phenomenon of mate choice in humans, Dr. Buss will speak on "Sexual Strategies: The Evolution of Human Mating." The discussion will focus on the differing tactics males and females use to attract mates and to put down competitors, and the conflicts of interest that arise between the two sexes.

Dr. Buss has written extensively on the biological foundations of personality. He is a faculty associate at the Research Center for Group Dynamics at the University of Michigan, and in 1988 won a Distinguished Scientific Award for his contributions to the study of personality from the American Psychological Association.

The lecture is open to the public free of charge. For further information, call 683-5178 or 258-3977.

Three Juveniles Charged With Criminal Mischief

Three Township juveniles, 16 and 17, have been charged by Township police with criminal mischief and later released to their parents.

Police received a call at 1:43 Thursday morning reporting a disturbance near the John Witherspoon School. As one officer checked the school, Sgt. Jerry Offredo saw four youths in the area.

A short time later, a call came from a Linden Lane resident reporting a loud bang against the house. A check revealed that a rock had been thrown through a screen and window.

Three of the four youths were apprehended; a fourth managed to escape.

that the units remain affordable for 15 years.

The 70 low-income rental units at Griggs Farm will be owned by a limited partnership for 15 years; PCH will be the general partner, and the investors will be limited partners. PCH has hired an experienced tax credit attorney in Washington D.C. to structure this limited partnership and is in the process of talking with three possible syndication partnerships.

The gap will also be made up by:

- $1 million which the Township Housing Board two weeks ago voted 3 to 1 to recommend asking Township Committee to set aside "if needed" from the Township Affordable Housing Trust Fund. Vice chairman Thomas Fulmer says he voted against making this recommendation, on the grounds that not enough evidence had been presented to convince him this was the most effective use of these funds;

- $500,000 which PCH has offered to contribute if needed from the proceeds of the syndication of Princeton Community Village;
- and a mortgage of about $664,000, which PCH expects to take out on the 70 low income rental units.

According to Harriet Bryan, co-chairman with Robert Cawley of the Griggs Farm Council, the projections as to total costs, total revenues and what might be needed to fill the gap have been "conservatively and carefully developed" by PCH comptroller Malcolm Closterman and the Griggs Farm Finance Committee.

"The funds are there to assure that all the bonds can be paid off without incurring a burden to the Township tax-payer," Mrs. Bryan says.

The Griggs Farm Finance Committee consists of two representatives of Township Committee, Mayor Kate Litvack and Committeeman Tom Poole; three Housing Board members, Jane Silverman, Bernard Miller and William Swain; and two volunteer representatives from PCH, Mrs. Bryan and Mr. Closterman. In addition PCH Executive Director Marcia Crimmins, Township Housing Manager Susan Repko and Township Finance Director Christine Smeltzer are on this committee.

Griggs Farm History

By way of background, Griggs Farm consists of 280 modest townhouse and apartment units now being built on a triangular 26-acre piece of land between Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road. Half the units are for sale at modest market rate prices. Half are reserved for families and individuals who are within the low- and moderate-income categories established under the Township housing ordinance.

The Township is counting on these 140 units to help fulfill its 25-unit affordable housing obligation, which originated in the 1983 Mt. Laurel New Jersey Supreme Court decision and was confirmed under the 1985 legislation creating the Council on Affordable Housing.

At the time that Griggs Farm was being planned — during the real estate boom of the mid-1980s — it was anticipated that there would be a rush for the well-built, nicely-designed market units priced well below the median of Princeton real estate, and that the sale of these units would generate sufficient surplus to subsidize the 140 lower income units.

PCII was delayed by factors beyond its control in starting construction, and when the first units came on line, the real estate boom had turned sour. According to Mr. Cawley and Mrs. Bryan, not only did the delays and changes mean higher construction costs, but higher interest charges as well. With units not selling as rapidly as projected, there was not the revenue to pay off the loan, which meant more of it was outstanding and generating interest charges.

The entire project was originally expected to be completed by June of 1990. The project report filed with the Local Finance Board states that 96 units have been completed, of which 28 have been sold and two rented. The second phase of the project is scheduled to begin construction this month, and completion of the whole project is anticipated by the end of January.

According to Mr. Cawley, not only were the interest and construction costs higher than originally projected, but PCH has had to spend more in marketing and advertising than anticipated. Marketing costs, for instance, were originally budgeted at two percent, he says; the actual number is now five percent. He says that sales of the market units are covering their own costs and even generating a little profit — they just aren't making the profit to subsidize the low and moderate income units.

Creative & Flexible

So PCH has had to be creative and flexible as well as hard-nosed. A recent decision, prompted by the tax credit application which is expected to yield syndication money, was to reduce the total number of low-income rental units from 93 to 70. This was undertaken reluctantly, because the need for low-income rental units is very great, and few if any Mt. Laurel projects around the State are including rental units.

However, the mix does not change. Griggs Farm is still an innovative 50 percent market rate, 50 percent Mt. Laurel development. The ratio in other Mt. Laurel projects around the State which are built by a for-profit developer are four-to-one — four market rate units to one Mt. Laurel. The disadvantage of this ratio is the number of total units created and the amount of land that is consumed in the process.

It is anticipated that refinancing will be paid off in two years, coinciding with the anticipated completion of the project in January, 1992. However, as the application to the Local Finance Board puts it, it is possible that approximately $1 million may be rolled over into 15 year bonds at project end. This debt would be paid off by long-term rental and tax credit income.

Grand Reopening Mar. 7 For Weichert Realtors

Capping off a 15-month renovation project, Weichert Realtors will have a grand reopening of its Princeton office at 350 Nassau Street on Wednesday, March 7. The public is invited to attend the affair from 1 until 5 p.m.

The real estate firm has been operating out of temporary quarters while the Nassau Street location was purchased and renovated.

"It's a thrill to be back on Nassau Street," office manager Carolyn Sebastian said. "Our office is all-new inside, and the design and decor are truly spectacular. We hope that everyone in the community will stop in to see how nicely a building can be modernized without altering or radically affecting the exterior charm."

The exterior of the building keeps the village shop charm of Princeton with its wide plate glass windows and awnings. Inside brass chandeliers and recessed lighting complement the 11-foot ceilings and built-in planters add a touch of warmth. The first floor includes a reception area, the manager's office, private conference rooms and individual desk and work space for sales associates. On the second are private offices, additional work space, along with a telecommunications and business management center.

"In order to improve working conditions, it was necessary to do a total renovation on the interior of our building," commented regional vice-president Bob Albrecht. "We removed every interior wall and completely opened up the space before beginning the renovation. With the completion of the Princeton office, Weichert has now modernized or rebuilt every one of our offices in Mercer County."

With more than 200 offices in five states, Weichert, Realtors is the nation's largest privately-owned residential real estate company.

Lawrenceville Developer To Build Rt. 1 Complex

DKM Properties Corp., Lawrenceville, has received final approval for the construction of the one-million-square-foot Weston Mill Corporate Center in North Brunswick Township.

Plans for the 67.3-acre site call for six office buildings ranging from four to six stories and 140,000 to 190,000 square feet each. Located in front of Johnson & Johnson Personal Products Co., the site borders the east side of Route 1 near Milltown Road, just north of the Route 130 intersection.

DKM believes that once the implementation of several traffic reduction measures — including shuttle service to trains, preferential parking and traffic management techniques for tenants — the project will not substantially increase the number of cars traveling along Route 1 during the rush hours.

"We are currently working with the Township of North Brunswick to implement programs dealing with traffic management along the Route 1 corridor," said Ronald Berman, chairman and CEO of DKM.

Japan and United States Topic at Chamber Lunch

Steven Schlossstein, of Princeton, an international strategic consultant and author, will speak at the Princeton area Chamber of Commerce general membership luncheon on Thursday. His topic will be "Japan and America: An Unhappy Marriage or an Inevitable Divorce?"

Mr. Schlossstein's most recent book, The End of the American Century, provides an in-depth look at where America stands in relationship to Asia, and suggests methods and techniques of enhancing our industrial competitiveness in a world we no longer dominate.

Mr. Schlossstein is president of SBS Associates, Inc., a private financial advisory firm whose main objective is to develop market penetration strategies in Asia, primarily Japan. SBS's clients include E.I. DuPont de Nemours, Texas Instruments, and Commodities Corp.

The meeting, at Scanticone-Princeton, will take place from noon to 1:30. Reservations are guaranteed at $17 for Chamber members, $25 for nonmembers, and must be made through the Chamber office, 520-1776.

Female Entrepreneurship Noon Seminar Subject

"Women and Entrepreneurship: Do You Have What It Takes?" — a free, noontime seminar on how to start a business — will be held Thursday, at the Princeton Women's Center, 201 Aaron Burr Hall, Nassau Street and Washington Road.

The seminar is co-sponsored by the State Commerce Department's Office of Women Business Enterprise, the Princeton University Women's Center, Princeton University Career Services, and the Princeton University Women's Organization.

Successful New Jersey women business owners will relate their experiences in contemporary entrepreneurship. A discussion will follow.

AMERICAN DINER GUTTED: A sign reading 'Early Bird Special' was just about all that was left of the American Diner, at 179 Nassau Street, after Monday morning's fire destroyed the interior.

Fire

and Keven Bender responded. They found smoke in all the adjoining buildings, Capt. Thomas Michaud reported. All doors were locked. The smoke concentration became heavier, Capt. Michaud said, toward the area of the bakery and the diner. Open flames were first noticed in the rear of the diner and the bakery.

Firemen — police and firemen were both sent to the scene by the police dispatcher — broke in the side door of the diner to gain entrance. All residents on the second floor were evacuated. By this time, heavy smoke was pouring from the whole building.

A call for a general alarm and for mutual aid from surrounding fire companies was sounded.

In addition to the three Princeton volunteer companies, firemen from Princeton Junction, Lawrence, South Brunswick, Kingston and Montgomery helped fight the fire. It was fought in a bitter, nine-degree temperature, but Chief Karch said that the cold did not hamper the firemen in fighting the fire. It was brought under control at 5:20 in the morning. Busy Nassau Street was blocked off, however, until 5:20 Monday afternoon. In the middle of the night, a Princeton Fuel Oil truck arrived to refill the diesel-powered fire trucks so they could remain at the scene.

On Monday and Tuesday, cranes removed structural damage and an air conditioning unit from the roof so the structures would not be a hazard to investigators. Public Service trucks were at the scene as workmen disconnected gas and electric lines. A U.S. Department of the Treasury Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms lab truck has been parked in front of the site to help analyse material at the scene. Federal investigators were brought in at the invitation of Mercer County Prosecutor Paul T. Koenig Jr. Four Mercer County detectives are investigating the fire.

Chief Karch commented that a fire such as this is routinely investigated by the federal government whenever there is a large loss to a commercial property.

Also involved in the investigation is a detective from the Borough police department, Borough Fire Inspector Bill Majewski and Chief Karch. It was expected that a few more days will elapse before the cause of the fire is finally determined.

"Love Letters" Planned As Rep Company Benefit

Mercedes Ruchl and James McLure will give a special performance of Love Letters to benefit the Princeton Rep Company on Saturday, March 17, at 8 in Dodds Auditorium of the Woodrow Wilson School on the Princeton University campus.

Ms. Ruchl, who won the American Film Critics award for her role in Married to the Mob, recently returned as Kate in the new York off-Broadway hit, Other People's Money, a role she created, and for which she received the Clarence Darrow Award in 1988. She has also appeared in the films Big, with Tom Hanks, and Heartburn, with Meryl Streep, as well as in the Broadway production of I'm Not Rappaport.

Mr. McLure is best known as creator of such plays as 1959 Pink Thunderbird, Pvt. Wars, The Day They Shot John Lennon, and Lone Star. He won a Dramalogue award for his work, and was also one of only three American playwrights produced at the 1984

Olympic Festival in Los Angeles. His plays have been performed in London, Dublin and Johannesburg, as well as in regional theaters across the country. However, he began his theatrical career as an actor.

The Princeton Repertory has had two successful seasons at Murray-Dodge Theatre on the Princeton University campus.

Love Letters, which just closed in New York, had been playing to sold-out houses for many months. Written by A. R. Gurney, author of The Dining Room and other plays, it chronicles the enduring relationship of two close friends through their lifelong correspondence. In 1989 the company produced Mr. Gurney's What I Did Last Summer.

Tickets for this benefit at $100, $75, and $45 may be ordered by calling 921-3682. A champagne reception to meet Ms. Ruchl and Mr. McLure will follow the performance.

Ms. Larzelere's quilts are composed of small blocks of color that modulate in what seem to be random patterns, creating fields of colors and light.

Princeton Cagers Split with Dartmouth and Harvard; Tigers Take One-Game Lead into Final Ivy Weekend

Put the champagne back in the refrigerator, Princeton basketball fans. Hold off on the hotel reservations for the Final Four. Don't make up the NCAA tournament T-shirts just yet. The Ivy League title race is far from over.

After splitting games at Dartmouth and Harvard last weekend, the Tigers saw their cushion atop the league standings shrink to one game over Yale and two over the Crimson entering the final weekend of the regular season. To guarantee its second consecutive outright title, Princeton (18-6, 9-3 Ivy) will almost certainly have to sweep Cornell and Columbia at Jadwin Gymnasium this weekend, since the Elis are favored to beat both Dartmouth and Harvard before the cheering multitudes in New Haven, Conn. If the race ends in a two-way tie, there will be a one-game playoff to determine which team gets the league's automatic NCAA tourney berth.

SPORTS

CAREER HIGH PERFORMANCE: Princeton's senior captain Matt Lapin gets off a shot against Harvard en route to a career-high, 24-point performance against Harvard. The Tigers' bid to clinch the Ivy title was put on hold, however, when the Crimson won, 69-63.

For a while last Saturday night, though, it looked as if Princeton would end the title chase a week early. The Tigers had posted an impressive 58-49 comeback win over Dartmouth the night before, and now, playing on the same Briggs Arena court where they clinched the 1989 title, they were destroying the Crimson at its own fast-paced game. Midway through the first half, Princeton held a 31-16 lead, and when it was announced that Cornell was beating Yale by 16 points at Ithaca, N.Y., the championship appeared to be in the bag.

Then, suddenly and shockingly, the whole scenario unraveled. Harvard ripped off 12 straight points to get back into the game, then used suffocating defensive pressure and 22 points from Ralph James to overcome a two-point halftime deficit and roll up a 69-63 upset

"Especially in the second half, we didn't handle their worse for the Tigers, Yale likewise mounted a major comeback, eventually outlasting the Big Red in double overtime by a 62-58 count. Just like that, the race was on again."

Disturbed by Pressure

Princeton coach Pete Carril, momentarily deprived of his 10th Ivy title in 23 seasons at the helm, cited Harvard's swarming defense as the main factor in his squad's uncharacteristic collapse.

About the only Tiger on the mark was forward Matt Lapin. The senior captain established a career high in scoring for the second night in a row, sinking a school-record eight three-pointers for 24 points. One of those bombs brought Princeton within a point at 56-55 with under four minutes left and kindled hope among the handful of Tiger rooters in the crowd. But James responded with two quick baskets in the lane and the Orange and Black never threatened again.

Guard Sean Jackson scored 13 points for Princeton on four three-pointers, while All-Ivy center Kit Mueller was limited to eight points. Forward Matt Eastwick was hampered by foul trouble but still managed to tally 10 points, while front-court mate Matt Henson was held scoreless.

James led the way for Harvard with his 22, while perimeter shooters Fred Schernecker and Tyler Rohman contributed 16 and 11 points, respectively.

"We just have a sense of how to play them," Harvard coach Pete Roby said after his fourth win over Princeton in 10 tries. "We're not going to let them dictate the tempo. We know how we want to play them and we're not going to get beat at their style."

Dartmouth Comes Out Fighting

Tiger Hockey Looking for First Ever ECAC Playoff Victory

By the time you read this article the Princeton University ice hockey team will either be packing its bags for a trip to RPI, or cleaning out their lockers to end another frustrating season.

A weekend sweep at Brown and Yale last weekend gave the Tigers a seventh-place finish in the Eastern College Athletic Conference and a home-ice playoff game against 10th-place Yale this past Tuesday night at Baker Rink. The home playoff game will be the first in Princeton history.

Though a home playoff date is nice, the Tuesday match with Yale is not the one the Tigers were looking for. Under last year's playoff format, Princeton would have played RPI, the second-place team, in a week-end series in Troy. This year a new format has been adopted, giving the ninth- and tenth-place teams a shot at the playoffs. Thus the Tigers must first defeat Yale for a chance to play the second-place Engineers.

Yale is the only team in the ECAC that the Tigers have convincingly defeated twice this season. Princeton has probably played its best games against the Elis, defeating them 6-1 at Baker on January 5, and 6-3 last Saturday night in New Haven. The question is: can Princeton top its Ivy rival for the third time after playing it only three days ago?

Can't Be Taken Lightly

Co-captain Kevin Sullivan feels Princeton cannot take Yale lightly, despite the two wins. "It is going to be different playing them so soon," said Sullivan. "We cannot look ahead. We have to be focused on Yale. Any team is tough to beat three times in a season."

Princeton's main advantage over Yale will be in special-teams play. The Tigers ended the season with the top power play in the league and have scored five extra-man goals on the Elis in their two meetings. Yale has struggled against Princeton, scoring one power-play goal in 13 attempts this season.

"Their power play has been struggling all year," said Sullivan of the Eli man-advantage attack. "Special-teams play is a key for every game. The guys have been moving the puck well and taking the shot when it is there on our power play. Everyone else has been crashing the net looking for rebounds; we have got-

At Providence last Friday Salsbury kept Princeton in the game until the rest of the team got on track. The Tiger goalie stopped two out of three breakaways in the first period to hold the Bruins to one goal. The Orange and Black offense woke up in the second period, scoring three times on Brown goalie Chris Harvey. Mike McKee tied the game during the first minute of the second period before Brian Bigelow put Princeton ahead for good.

Freshman Bigelow scored his third goal of the season when he beat Harvey with a 55-foot slap shot. Greg Polaski added a power-play goal to bring Princeton's lead to 3-1, before Joe Verderber beat Salsbury late in the second period to cut the Tigers' lead to one. Mark Kohozian insured a Princeton victory when he scored an empty-net goal with 48 seconds left in the contest.

Unusual Offensive Effort

Some unlikely sources provided much of the offense the following night in New Haven against Yale. Chris Stewart, Tom Shimabukuro and Jim Sourges all entered the game against the Elis with no more than three points for the entire season, but all three players had a multiple-point night against Yale. Stewart and Shimabukuro, both fourth-line forwards, each scored a goal and added an assist. Sourges, a senior defenseman, supplied three assists.

Two seasons ago the Tigers finished the regular season with an identical record to this year's overall (12-13-1) and league (11-10-1), and faced the same second-place St. Lawrence. Princeton was humiliated by the Saints 5-1 and 10-1. St. Lawrence came within one goal of parlaying a seven-inch height advantage over Mueller into game-high totals of 22 points and 10 rebounds. But down the stretch, when it counted most, Palmer seemed to run out of gas.

"I don't think we were intimidated by him," Mueller said. "I thought we handled him well. I missed a lot of layups, and I was worried for a while, but we made a nice run."

The triumph was Princeton's first in three appearances at Hanover's Leede Arena, which was opened in 1987. It also raised Carril's career record of winning the national championship that season.

Neither Yale nor RPI has the talent or goaltending to make the NCAA tournament this year, let alone win it. The Tigers have defeated both teams at least once and have a better defense than either team. RPI has the top offense in the league, but the worst defense. The Tigers got into a typical Engineer game in Troy February 9, losing 9-7.

Princeton proved it can play a steady defensive game during the last weekend of the regular season, winning on the road at Brown 4-2 and at Yale 6-3. The Tigers have allowed one more goal in the last four games (9) than they did in one period at Vermont.

One of the main reasons for the turnaround has been the play of junior goaltender Mark Salsbury. Salsbury has started 26 six games this season and has recorded five wins, his only loss coming against St. Lawrence at home (2-1). His goals-against average in the six starts is a stingy 2.16.

At Providence last Friday Salsbury kept Princeton in the game until the rest of the team got on track. The Tiger goalie stopped two out of three breakaways in the first period to hold the Bruins to one goal. The Orange and Black offense woke up in the second period, scoring three times on Brown goalie Chris Harvey. Mike McKee tied the game during the first minute of the second period before Brian Bigelow put Princeton ahead for good.

Freshman Bigelow scored his third goal of the season when he beat Harvey with a 55-foot slap shot. Greg Polaski added a power-play goal to bring Princeton's lead to 3-1, before Joe Verderber beat Salsbury late in the second period to cut the Tigers' lead to one. Mark Kohozian insured a Princeton victory when he scored an empty-net goal with 48 seconds left in the contest.

The three combined for the first goal of the game when Stewart beat Yale goalie, Ray Letourneau, after a three-way pass play involving Shimabukuro and Sourges. The Bulldogs tied the game after Stewart's first-period goal, when Mike Miller beat Salsbury in the first minute of the second period. Dan Maze scored his second goal of the year for Princeton late in the second before the Tigers blew the game open in the third period.

Bart Blaeser, Sullivan and Shimabukuro each scored in the first three minutes to give Princeton a 5-1 lead. Sean Murphy added a power-play goal midway through the final period off a pass from Sourges and Greg Polaski.

The Tigers relaxed in the final minutes of the game and gave the Elis some hope for the next meeting. James Lavish and Jeff Blaeser scored during the final three minutes for the Elis to put a slight damper on an otherwise strong game for Princeton.

Down to the Wire

Princeton must now turn its attention to two of the league's lesser outfits, Cornell and Columbia. The Tigers swept the New York schools on a road trip at the beginning of February, routing the last-place Lions, 67-39, and nipping the Big Red, 60-54. Both teams are extremely inexperienced, although Cornell has one of the league's most dangerous scorers in center Bernard Jackson. Friday night's matchup against the Big Red will undoubtedly prove the more challenging of the two for the Tigers, who will be putting a 16-game home winning streak on the line.

Yale, meanwhile, will entertain Dartmouth Friday and Harvard the next night. The Cantabs are still alive in the race, although they would have to sweep Brown and Yale and hope for two Princeton losses just to gain a tie for the title. Harvard is the only Ivy League school never to have won a men's basketball championship.

If the Tiger players need any additional inspiration in their quest for a return trip to the NCAA tournament, they can look to the example of Princeton's 1964-65 Final Four team, which will be honored during a ceremony at halftime of Saturday's Columbia game. Team members expected to attend the 25th anniversary celebration include U.S. Senator Bill Bradley, Rob Haarlow, Ed Hummer and Gary Walters. Under the direction of coach Buteh van Breda Kolff, the 1964-65 Tigers posted a 23-6 record, including a 13-1 Ivy League mark, and defeated Wichita State for third place in the NCAA tournament.

Bittler Sets Record
Princeton University senior Sandi Bittler became the school's all-time leading women's basketball scorer Friday when she scored 31 points in a 85-77 loss to unbeaten Dartmouth.

Her career total of 1,640 eclipses the former mark of 1,622 set by C. B. Tomasiewicz.

A deadly accurate three-point shooter, Bittler hit on nine of her first ten three-point attempts and finished with 10 of 16 trifects to break her Ivy single game record.

The 5-6 guard now has 82 three-pointers for the season and 239 in her career. "I just wish," she smiled, "that they had the three-point shot when I was a freshman."

PDS Girls' State Champs In Prep A Basketball

"Basketball is back at PDS!"

"Success breeds success," added the speaker, Princeton Day School girls' basketball coach Jill Thomas. As proof, she proudly pointed to her Panther team which won the NJISAA Prep A state championship Saturday with a pulsating, 26-24 victory over Lawrenceville. It was the first state A title for Princeton Day School ever.

Princeton Day finished with a 14-7 record. It started slowly, losing four games in December but then came on to lose only three in 1990. Of those seven losses, the Panthers came back to avenge all but two: West Windsor and Oak Knoll. The mark of a championship team.

"We are the best 14-7 team in the State," boasted Thomas who guided the Panthers to an 11-4 mark last year, her first as coach.

Thomas loses four seniors but insists: "I'm not worried about that now. Let's enjoy this (winning the championship) for a while."

When pressed a bit and asked if she felt she had enough coming back around which to build another fine team, Thomas replied forcefully and unhesitatingly, "Sure!"

Still, the title game was close and it came down to the final minute after a jumper by Julia Howard had tied the score at 24. PDS got the ball back with 40 seconds left but lost it out of bounds for a turnover.

Overtime seemed imminent when Princeton Edith Roberts stole the ball and fed Timory Howe underneath. Howe's layup rolled tantalizingly around the rim — and out — but she was fouled on the play. With nine ticks left on the clock, the Panther co-captain fought off the pressure and converted both foul shots to give PDS its margin of victory. Lawrenceville got the ball over half court with four seconds left but its final running layup attempt for the tie missed.

Sara Foster, the County's leading scorer with 430 points, averaging 20 a game, and Howard led PDS with ten points each and also excelled under the boards with 11 rebounds apiece. Howard added five steals and five assists in a complete performance while Foster also had five steals. Howe finished with six points and 11 rebounds.

"Timory got two points when it mattered," commented Thomas. "If she remembers one thing, it will be that. And Edith Roberts will remember that steal."

Thomas also cited the defensive play of Howard and Foster on the Big Red's Jen Waugh and Carole Kostrzewa, who were held to five points each.

Howe, Roberts, Foster and Howard are all seniors. Others playing their last game included Sara-Jane Matelson, Tara Wildnauer, and Kristina Buie.

PDS had advanced to the championship game with a semifinal victory over Mount St. Mary's.

The Panthers reached the finals by knocking off top-seeded Mt. Saint Mary's, 61-54, last Wednesday, also at Rutgers Prep. Two early-season losses to MSM did not worry Jill Thomas's girls, who felt they could win if they stuck to their game.

PDS served notice right from the opening quarter that things would be different the third time around. MSM had an 8-6 lead in the first few minutes, but that proved to be its last. The teams ended the quarter tied at 12 apiece, and when Foster hit a basket to break a 14-14 deadlock, PDS held the lead the rest of the way.

By the end of the half, the Panthers had pulled away to a 31-25 advantage, and they increased that to 43-34 at the end of three. Led by their hot-shot scorer, Chris Seiling, who had 14 of her game-high 42 points in the final period, MSM fought back into contention.

It held the Blue and White scoreless for two minutes, and closed the gap to a single basket with less than two minutes remaining. This raised the spectre of another West Windsor game, where PDS blew an 11-point lead in the final eight minutes. But PDS connected on its chances from the foul line, sinking three of four, and came away with the win.

While Seiling was virtually the entire offense for MSM, Foster, who pumped in 34, had help from Howe with 11, Howard with six, and Edith Roberts and Sarah Berkman, four apiece.

PDS Skaters Lose, 6-3 In Own Tourney Finale

The Princeton Day School's ice hockey team once again has acted the perfect host.

For the fifth consecutive year, the Panthers allowed someone else to win their own Princeton Day Tournament. This time, it was a strong St. Mary's team from Manhasset, Long Island, which defeated PDS, 6-3, in Saturday's championship game. PDS had reached the finals of the four-team event with an opening 4-1 verdict the previous day over Brunswick. That victory marked the first time PDS had won a game in the tournament since 1986. In Friday's other game, St. Mary's defeated Moses Brown School of Providence, R.I.

Gunning for its 27th win in 30 games, St. Mary's took a 4-0 lead in the first period. After a scoreless second period, the

After letting that sink in for a moment, Bourbeau amended his "good year" assessment. "I think," said the first-year coach, "we had a great year."

PHS Swimmers Topped In State Meet, 93-60

Its ranks depleted by some of its members taking advantage of spring break, the Princeton High girls' swimming team was defeated last week, 93-60, by Rumson-Fair Haven in the NJSSIAA Central 'B' semifinal.

"It would have been close if all our kids had been here," said Little Tiger coach Janet Jelliffe. "I can't say if the outcome would have been any different, though. Rumson is a very strong team."

Freshman Christine Jensen was a double winner for PHS, taking the 50 and 500 freestyle events. Ashley Dixon won the 100 butterfly and was second in the 200 IM. Danielle Devereux of PHS finished second in both the 100 and 200 free.

The win was the victors' 12th straight without a loss. Jelliffe admitted that most of the times posted by the Little Tigers were a bit slower than usual. On this particular day, PHS could not match the Rumson swimmers in times or in team spirit.

PHS Matmen Down to 1; Dickerson In Regionals

After the last bout was over at the NJSIAA District 17 wrestling matches last weekend at Hunterdon Central High School in Flemington, Princeton High School had managed to advance just one wrestler to the Region 5 title bouts this week: heavyweight Will Dickerson.

Dickerson, seeded second, was pinned in 52 seconds in the District 17 championship round by top-seeded Chris Long of West Windsor.

"I think Long has just got Will's number," said PHS coach Matt Wilkinson. "He's just too big. The limit is 275 pounds and I think Long hits the top of the scale at 270. Will is no small guy but he is giving up 30 pounds."

Dickerson will next wrestle another third-place finisher from another district this Wednesday. He has to win at least two more matches to go on, said Dickerson. Like the Districts, the Region 5 matches will be held at Hunterdon Central and the top three finishers from each weight division will advance to the State meet in mid-March.

Princeton lost a chance to enter two more in the Regionals after Lawrence Mansier and Adam Basatemur lost consolation matches. Mansier, seeded fourth in the 140-pound class, entered the tournament with a 19-4 record. After scoring a technical fall over Hopewell Valley's Mike Pietras in the quarterfinals, Mansier lost a close, 7-5 match to top-seeded Brian Lyczarcz of West Windsor in the semifinals. In the consolation round, Mansier defaulted to Lawrence's Eric Morlino after suffering an injury with nine seconds left in the second period.

Basatemur, an up and coming sophomore, pinned Conan Rose of Lawrence High 17 seconds into overtime in his quarterfinal match but lost a 9-2 decision to Doug Jensen of Hunterdon Central in the semis. In his consolation match, Basatemur was decisioned, 8-5, by Jason Atlas of West Windsor.

PHS's wrestlers who lost quarterfinal matches were Jason Kirby at 112 pounds, Scott Roen (125), Matt Pickens (130), Jim Brophy (152), Matt Curran (160), Guy Romain (171) and Garret Morris (189).

As always, Hunterdon Central, North Hunterdon and Voorhees dominated the team competition in District 17. The Red Devils of Hunterdon Central nosed out the North Hunterdon Lions 139.5 to 134 in the team standings, followed by Voorhees which was third with 117 points. West Windsor was Mercer County's best team but was a distant fourth with 58.5 points. PHS finished eighth among the ten participating schools with 27 points.

There was one notable exception to the Hunterdon Schools' dominance: Jerry Romano, Hopewell Valley's undefeated 112-pounder (27-0) won the 112-pound title with a 43 second pin of HC freshman Tim Cunningham. It was his 10th career victory.

Romano, who was upset in the Districts last year but went on to win a Regional title, was named the Tournament's Most Outstanding Wrestler.

High School Skaters Lose In State Hockey Tourney

Princeton High's ice hockey coach was satisfied with his team's performance, saying, "We gave it all we had."

Mt. Olive coach Bob Peters was not. "We could have played better. We were not working as a team."

Guess which team won? That's right. Mt. Olive ousted the Little Tigers from the NJSIAA state playoffs with a first-round, 4-2 victory. PHS had time to recover from its shocking first-round loss a week ago in the Mercer County Tournament but they could not cope with Mt. Olive's speed in Monday's contest at Mercer Park rink. "They are the quickest team we played all season," said Rubenstein.

The Little Tigers were always a goal behind the Marauders. Todd Bitterman gave the Mt. Olive icemen a 1-0 lead when he tipped in a pass in the first period. Princeton came right back to tie as Mike Precheur, on a nice play, faked a pass and then slid the puck between Mt. Olive goalie Jon Benbow and the right post.

With a minute and a half left in the opening period, the Marauders went up a goal again, when Sam Tokola dropped a pass to Jeff Black who lifted the puck over PHS senior goalie Eric Stiff.

Each team scored a goal in the second period. Takola netted a rebound for his second and Precheur, the Tigers' leading scorer, scored his second on a breakaway to bring PHS back within a goal, 3-2. Just three hours earlier, Precheur had returned from a trip to Cancun, Mexico.

Some fine goal tending by both goalies dominated the final period. "Stiff kept us in the game with some great saves," said Rubenstein later. His counterpart, Peters, commented, "Goaltending kept us in the game." It was the one aspect of the contest both coaches agreed on. Stiff ended with 29 saves, Benbow 23.

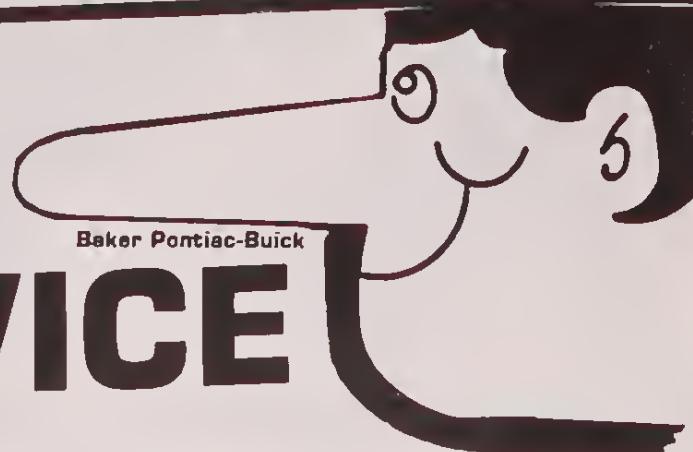

Rubenstein shifted his lines and pulled out all the stops in trying to get the tying goal, but the scrambling Little Tigers, moving and passing the puck as well as they had all season, were unable to penetrate Benbow. Mt. Olive scored an empty-netter with one second left to make it a 4-2 final and win its eighth game against six losses and a tie.

PHS finished with a solid, 9-4 record. And the outlook is good for next year for the Little Tigers since the squad is dominated by eight juniors and seven sophomores. Seniors playing their last game include Precheur, Stiff, Russ Levine and Andy Bennett.

2 Days, 2 Lost Titles For Hun School Quintet

Talk about a bummer for a team that has experienced nothing but success this year. In less than 24 hours, the Hun School basketball team lost the Mercer County Tournament championship and the NJISAA Class A state championship — both to Lawrenceville School. The setbacks were hard to take for a Raider team that has won more games this season than any other Hun team in the school's history.

Hun had the numbers, a 26-2 record before the games, but Lawrenceville had the physical advantage. Hun coach Kevin Long reported that the six players who have played the most for the Big Red this season are all post graduate students. "Not only PGs, they're big PGs," sighed Long.

On Saturday, Lawrenceville held Hun to its fewest points of the year, coming on to overtake a tiring Hun team, 47-45, to win the Mercer County title. Sunday afternoon, it was, said Long, "the same result only not as close." This round, the Big Red overpowered Hun, 68-49, to win the Prep A state title.

"They're a lot stronger and bigger. They were able to get the ball inside," said Long of Sunday's loss. "They don't leave you a chance to get second opportunities; in the second quarter we gave them a lot of second-chances off rebounds. We got hammered on the boards."

"We managed to cut it to seven at one point but then they had another run and they were 13 of 15 from the free throw line in the fourth period," recalled Long. "Their physical strength is the main thing; they are just a lot stronger than we are."

The Larries' front line averages around 6-6 and for "reserve" they can call on 6-8 John Norton. In contrast, Hun's tallest player is its highest scorer, 6-3 Greg Cygan. But Cygan has missed the last seven games in recovering from a bout of pneumonia. It was all too much for Hun, which played six games in eight days.

"It's been tough," admitted Long. "It's been a nice season but we weren't quite good enough to get over the hump. Still, we had a good season, one we can be proud of."

And the season isn't over for Hun just yet. It will compete in the Collegiate (N.Y.) Tournament this week. Opening against Dwight Thursday evening in the eight-team tourney. If Hun advances, says Long, it is guaranteed two more games. He reports that Cygan will be in uniform for the tourney but added: "I don't think he'll be back as a full time player."

Twofer Ruled Out

Hun and Long had wanted to have one game count for both the MCT and State titles. But the MCT officials and Lawrenceville coach Armond Hill wanted two games. Hill remembered last year when the Larries were confronted with the same one-game-for-two-championships scenario. It agreed and lost to Peddie.

In the State game, Hun was knocked out of contention in the second period when the Larries outscored the Raiders, 20-6. Two stats reveal how unravelled Hun had become: two players, RaShawn Glenn (27) and Mike D'Allegro (18) accounted for all but four of Hun's points and Hun shot a dismal 32 percent from the floor.

The State title was the first in four years for Lawrenceville, which ended 16-4. The victors were seeded first in the Prep A tourney, Hun second.

For their MCT showdown the previous day, Hun was top-seeded and Lawrenceville was seeded third. Hun jumped out

BACKDOOR BASKET: Hun's Mike Williams sneaks in behind the West Windsor defense for this reverse backdoor layup. The 6-2 junior had 11 points, as Hun socked the Pirates to advance to the final round of the Mercer County Tournament.

Call Them State Champs Hun Girls Win B Title

The Hun School boys' team may have missed out on a state title last week, but the Hun girls' basketball team did not.

Hun won the NJISAA Prep B state championship Saturday when it defeated Neumann Prep, 40-35, at the Rutgers Prep gym. Hun, which had upset Villa Walsh, the Prep B state champion in each of the previous five years in the semifinal round, finished with a fine 18-9 record under second-year coach Dennis Lepold.

Hun had its chances. Two shots by Deon Hames and one by Glenn — with under a minute to play — refused to drop. D'Allegro and Glenn paced Hun with 12 points each and Hames and Mike Williams combined for 15 more. Joe Warden led Lawrenceville with 15.

"My kids played their guts out," said Long, "but after the first period we couldn't get into a transition game. We couldn't play an up-tempo game."

The loss ended a six-game winning streak for Hun. Of Hun's four losses this season, Lawrenceville has accounted for three, having beaten Hun by ten points in a regular season game.

Best Game of Season?

Hun had advanced to the MCT final with a scintillating, 80-53 victory over West Windsor. "I think it was our best effort of the year without Greg," agreed Long. "Overall, we really executed well at both ends of the court."

Trailing, 8-4 early, Hun came on to blow the Pirates away. "We just got our butts kicked," said WW coach Rolla Warner. The Raiders were too quick for the Pirates, especially their two guards — Glenn, who poured in 25 points, and Hames, who added 18. D'Allegro contributed 14 and Mike Williams 11, as Hun placed four in double figures.

Hun had begun the week with a 57-54 victory over St. Benedict's in the opening round of the MCT. Once again it was the Glenn-Hames show. The sophomore guards combined for 39 points to pace the Hun attack. No other Hun player scored more than five.

Post 218 Registration

Registration for Princeton American Legion Post 218's baseball team will be held next Saturday, March 10, and Sunday, March 18, from 10 to noon at Valley Road Field. Players 15 to 18 years old from Princeton, Montgomery and Princeton High School students from Cranbury are eligible. For more information call 924-3158 or 921-1595.

Turning Point

Lepold saw the win over Villa Walsh as a turning point. "In that game we were down by seven at the half. It looked like Villa Walsh was about ready to take control of the game and I looked at Bonnie's eyes. I think she almost willed the team to win. She just wouldn't let them lose. We regained the lead and continued to build on it.

"We were not going to let them win the championship without a fight. I think that was a big turning point of the season." Lepold paced Hun in that win with 16 points.

In the title game, Hun led through most of the game, ahead 26-17 at halftime. But Hun scored only four points in the third period to let the 16-7 Neumann team back in the game. Jenson made a basket and then added two foul shots with a minute left to give Hun a 38-33 lead. Lepold made it a seven-point lead with ten seconds left after she was fouled intentionally and converted both shots. She finished with ten points.

That left Lepold just four Stuart Tournament in December points shy of a 1,000 career mark. The record books will be double checked to see if all her points were added up correctly, said her father, but if the total still falls short, Bonnie said that she will not be upset. Scoring 1,000 points is an individual goal, she commented. "Winning a state tournament is much more important. This is the second half when it out-something you can share with teammates at reunions."

In a very busy week, Hun was only half as successful in the concurrent Mercer County Tournament. It followed up its opening-round, two-point win over Nottingham with an upset of second-seeded Lawrenceville. Hun shocked the Larries, 45-32, in the semis behind a career-high 23 points by Jensen and a fine defensive effort by the whole team.

"They controlled the tempo. They outplayed us and deserved to win," said Vit Piscuskas, the stunned Big Red coach. In a regular-season game, Lawrenceville had defeated Hun handily, 46-29, and 40-27 in the semi-final meeting with third seeded Ewing on Thursday. This time there would be no upset.

Ewing combined an effective press with some hot shooting in the second half when it out-scored Hun, 35-12, to post a convincing 51-24 win. Lepold was the only Hun player in double figures with 10. "They were definitely the better team," coach Lepold said.
